About Us

USMWF established in 2007 and is the only grassroots, family based, national, not-for-profit organization that offers support, guidance and resources to families that have been affected by work-related-incidents, diseases and illnesses.

We know and understand first-hand the devastation that takes place in the mind, body and soul after such a tragic, unexpected death. Recognizing the overpowering emotions one has during the stages of grief. It is important that no one should feel alone during these times. We strive to be the voice of change to prevent similar incidents affecting others after such a tragic loss.

Our Mission

USMWF offers support, guidance and resources to those affected by work-related injuries, illnesses or diseases. Dedicated to sharing lessons learned that leads a movement of change in promoting actions for safe and healthy working conditions. Through the collective voice of families of fallen workers and other activists, we strive for the elimination and controls of workplace hazards— therefore preventing future tragedies.

Supporting & Honoring

Each day over 14 families receive the horrific call that their child, spouse, parents, etc. were fatally injured due to a preventable work related incident. Thousands of family member victims are thrown into the unforeseen reality of grief made of the rollercoaster ride of pain, suffering and inconvenience. Many deal with the financial burden, while trying to search for the many unanswered questions of the incident that forever changed their life and do not know where to go to receive the answers and closure they deserve.

Through our research we have found that the work incidents, illnesses and diseases are preventable and are happening too often and the voices of such tragic losses must be heard to make a difference and help each worker go home to their family after their shift. We know first hand that going to work should not be a grave mistake.

Face Campaign

How many words does it take to peer into the eyes of tragedy or feel the heartache and pain that is set in motion after our loved one was lost? We have found a picture is worth a thousands words. USMWF strives to honor, remember and recognize all of our fallen workers in our multiple tributes. The "Face Campaign" was launched January 1, 2009 and is intended to give workplace fatalities a face, gain awareness and educate workers, employees, organizations and our government.
